May 10th 1998 Time Lost (South Face Pined) 5.9?!

Definitely time lost on this route. Who ever called this "direct" needs to share whatever they were smoking. The traversing never ends. Actually, I really liked this route (Frank excluded). Always amazing to do a route that long in all year (not that you get a chance to place much). Another phenomenal day on Bobo - thanks Ibibio.

This was an interesting climb to such a beautiful place. It has been over 12 years since I made it here. I am glad to have made it; however, the "real work" is downhill. I can see now why the Indians regard such a place as sacred. The views are just fabulous.
