

Early December.

This has been one of those rare days that makes me pause & smile, and say out loud & to myself, "This is a good day. I'm glad to be alive today." Good luck to all of you, in all that you might do.

Continuation

Hi, this is Lisa.

This was an extremely difficult trip for me but am happy to say I made it. Before this trip, I was classified as a high maintenance girl, but now that I've made it to the top of Babo, I have gone down in the rankings & also earned some man points, maybe even some hair on my chest. This is a day I'll always remember. "Life is not measured by how many breaths you take, but by the moments that take your breath away."

This was one of those moments.
