FANTASTIC CLIMBING ON THE SE ARETE. YES IT'S STILL SNOWING!
CAN'T BEAT THIS. CHEERS ERIC & SCOTT

Great day of climbing SE Arete. Thank God we found some water in the rocks up here! Andrea is pooped. Had to take a little nap. Flew in from Forest Lake MN yesterday.
Been a long 2 days. Always wanted to climb this peak.
Totally worth the trip.
Time to get to the saddle
and munch on our bean burritos from El Liberto's!

Two weeks ago: Big Sur. Two days ago: Joshua Tree. Now we're here. Blessings to all. If this is as good as it gets, count me in.

Still contemplating the new sport of Swift fishing; catch and release, of course. Well, another day on the job, wondering why I'm so damned lucky! Thanks to whoever is making snotty little comments on people's thoughts, very mature, respectable and completely out of line. But you can't change my experience. Still happy to be alive. Keep climbing. Desert Rider

Lucas + Zenia - Congratulations, wedded
3/15/05 - Also Jeff + Todd + Jeff's mom (stayed @ base of ladder) - good weather,
overcast but ϕ rain on us.

03/18/05 (w/ Jeff, Todd and my husband Lucas)
To Lucas, (who's standing right behind me), love you more than you know. Jeff, wish you the best in life, specially a great woman who'll appreciate what a great guy you are. Todd, you're great, funny, intelligent. You'll be fine, just be patient. 3 wonderful guys who keep adding happiness to my life. I feel lucky.
I couldn't have asked for a better day.

Love to all,

Zenia

This was an awesome climb. The view was worth the hardwork getting here. This could be heaven!
